

From: McManus Blog Archives

Do You Plan More for a Vacation?

Published 03/22/2012

Many families will spend weeks planning for a week long vacation, sometimes even longer. But when it comes to planning your families future there just isn't the time.

How do you prepare for that permanent vacation?

Think back to your last vacation. Sandy beaches or historical tours or thrill rides and cotton candy. Got it? Now think back to how you prepared for your vacation.

Did you put a special "I'm on vacation" message on your voicemail?

Did you create an auto-respond email saying you'd be gone?

Did you put a stop on your mail or newspaper?

Set a light to go on in the evening?

Did you have someone come to water your plants or care for your pets?

(christinamcpherson.wordpress.com)

Take the time to consider your family's future if you're not around. Not knowing how to start an Estate Plan or what is needed to start your Estate Plan is not an excuse. If you don't know where to start come to a Free Estate Planning Workshop.